

IT Carlow Lecturer BBS in Aviation & Transport and BBS in Emergency Services

Tony O'Gorman - Tony has over thirty years' experience in the construction, refit, management and maintenance of buildings, plant and facilities in Ireland, the United States, Asia and Africa. Tony currently works as Project and Maintenance Manager in one of Ireland's largest public hospitals. He also has eleven years' experience working for Intel Ireland in a variety of technical management roles and as Facilities Emergency Response Leader, working with the emergency services on fire and chemical and major event emergency planning, response and control.

Tony has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Technology Management, BEng and MEng Degrees in Environmental and Public Health Engineering, and a Master's Degree in Business Administration. Tony is also a certified L6 FETAC trainer. He has lectured in the National University of Ireland, Galway (NUIG Schools of Engineering and Health Sciences) and the Centre for the Modern Environment (CME).

Tony holds membership to a number of professional organizations, including the Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH), the U.K Institution of Engineering and Technology (IET) and the British Institute of Facilities Managers (BIFM).

Tony has substantial experience in the design and delivery of specialist industrial and third level training in the following areas: Advanced Maintenance Practices, Environmental Health and Safety, Risk Management and Emergency Response, Quality Improvement, Innovation and Lean Plant Maintenance, Technical Problem-Solving, Project Management and Supervisory Management.